MISSISSIPPI HIGHWAYS UNDER STATE CONTROL.

Construction work on the Missispartment. These highways, the Mississippi Valley Highway, the Jackson Highway and the Old Spanish Trail, connect Mississippi by direct route with the entire Mississpp Valley and the Middle Western States, and the southern section of the United States, from the Atlantic States to the Pacific Coast. These highways are of arteries through which traffic can bow in and out of the State to all sections of the country. highways is allowed to be worn down it will defeat the entire object of the country. highway, for "a chain is no stronger than its weakest link." Yea there is danger that this may become the condition of the Mississippi links. Un-

The amendment would change this capes. cial and otherwise cause these roads to be neglected for a period of time sufficiently long to allow the roads to wear down to such a degree that the wear down to such a degree that the one thing. An auto is an engine of expense of repairs would practically death and injury when driven reckconstruct a new road. Under the amended law, these highways would chine in these strenuous days and be part of a State Highway System, those who undertake it should have connecting every county seat, and center of population in the State, and this system would be maintained in the best condition possible during the entire year. In this way, the most important trunk highways in the State would receive the attention of trained and experienced engineers, who would be in position to watch the roads closely, and to act immediately in case of need of repairs. This would relieve the counties of the expense of maintaining these trunk, highways, and allow them to devote their attention to roads of lesser importance, which are at present neglected. It is proposed to place the expense of maintaining these trunk highways upon the automobile owners, since they are the ones who will be benefited. This does not mean only Mississippi automobile owners, but the thousands of tourists who pass over the highways annually will pay a large part in the form of gaso-

This system is at present under construction, and its completion depends upon the continuation of Federal aid allotments by means of which a large part of it is being constructed. Unless this amendment is adopted, these allotments will cease, since the Federal Highway Act of 1921 requires that within three years after the passage of the act all of the States shall give the Highway Department control over a State Highway System, upon which Federal funds may be expended. This is required by the government to insure maintenance of roads, for the construction of which Federal funds have been spent. From 1916 to 1921, millions of dollars were literally thrown away, due to failure of the counties to maintain newly constructed roads, and the government resolving to avert this in the future, had inserted the maintenance clause in the 1921 appropriations.

> TWO VITAL NEEDS.

There are two very important things that go toward making a good live town-one is persistent, thorough and attractive advertising, and the other is backing up the advertising with performance. There is no use advertising if you haven't the goods, and there is no use having the goods if you don't advertise them. No town has ever benefited by the man who sits down and waits for nore enterprising and public spirited persons to bring trade to him, and leither is it by the man who fails to fown. of Our Lady of the Gulf, a musical program of unusual excellence will be rendered, including Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shields, favorites of the drama.

The program will include Mr. I. Rau, violinist, and Mr. Rau, Sr.; vocal solo by Mrs. J. J. Ritayik, accompanied by Mrs. W. Patridge; Miss Audrey Copping and Miss Vivian Copping, classic dancing; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. B. Norton, solo duet, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shields in a dramatic sketch.

Mrs. J. Keiffer Entertains.

There was quite a gathering at the Beach Drug Store Pavilion Thursday evening, when Mrs. Jean Keiffer privately entertained at a musicale and dance in honor of her guests, Mrs. Chas. A. Hoth and her son, Mr. Ed ward G. Hoth, of New Orleans. The pavilion was beautifully decorated for the occasion. There was much evergreen and long sprays of Montana rose were effectively used. The predominating color was red and under the shade of the color scheme the electric lights glowed with Farming, like every other business, must cut down the overhead.

It is not a question of being able to afford a Fordson; it is a question of being able to continge farming on the old too-costly basis.

The farmer's problem is not all a sales problem; it is also a production problem. He must cut down the cost of production.

The Fordson does more work at a lower cost and in less time than the old hand methods.
